

Communication Practice - I

Author : AI Generated

Date : 2025

Listening: Self-Introduction Videos

Listening to self-introduction videos improves understanding of articulation, clarity, and confidence in speech.

Speaking: Self-Introduction

A self-introduction should include name, background, interests, and career goals while maintaining clarity and confidence.

Speaking: Extempore

Speaking on an unprepared topic helps improve spontaneity, coherence, and articulation skills.

Speaking: Role Play

Role-play enhances communication skills by simulating real-world interactions in controlled settings.

Reading: Non-Technical Comprehension Passage

Reading passages unrelated to technical fields helps develop general comprehension and analytical skills.

Writing: Common Errors in Writing

Identifying and correcting grammatical mistakes, punctuation errors, and improper structuring in written communication.

